WARRINGTON, April 29.-The Navy Departthe battle ships made by the Atha & Illingsworth Company of Newark, N. J., whose rejection with somewhat sensations' results last fall, closely followed by criminal proceedings against some of the officials of the company on the charge of attempting to defraud the Government. As far as known the Department of Justice has taken no steps to quash the charges, but, the navy having accepted the material on which the proceedings,were based, it is probable the case will be abandoned. The Chief of Naval Ordnance said this morning that the department, was in this morning that the department, was in urgent need of the castings, and their defects having been shown to be superficial, had accepted them. There castings are the piston heads need to elevate the big guns in the turrets of the battle ships now so near completion. Last fall, after the trouble with the Carnegie blow holes in armor plates, and also with material received from the Fenn Steel Casting Company of Fennsylvania, the naval inspectors redoubled their efforts to detect frauds. The examination of the big castings from the Atha & Illingsworth Company showed that plugs had been put into blow holes and the entire surface skilfully rusted over to prevent detection. Ordnance officers declared this to be a palpable intent to defraud, and Segretary Herbert determined to make an example of the presumably guilty parties, and promptly sent forward the affidavits of the inspectors to Attorney-General Olney, who proceeded against the officers of the company at once. The department returned the castings to the company, rejecting them, and the company begged for permission to machine the pictors, asserting that the holes were on the surface, and that when the pistons were turned down to their required size they would prove sound or the company would guarantee to replace them. The Government could not consent to this, as it would destroy the evidence of fraud. Recently, however, the department needing the bistons, consented to the machine work, the material having been proved sound upon inspection at Washington. urgent need of the castings, and their defects

THE BROOKLYN NAVAL DRY DOCK. Blds for Completing It Opened at the Navy Department.

WASHINGTON, April 29.—Bids were opened in the Navy Department this afternoon for completing the big dry dock at the New York Navy Yard, left unfinished by John Gillies, whose contract was annulled on the 12th inst. by Secretary Herbert on the ground of non-perform-The Gillies contract was made by Secretary

Tracy Nov. 17, 1892, for the dock to be completed in thirty-two months, for $462,619.18, Congress having appropriated $500,000 for the Congress having appropriated $500,000 for the purpose. Gillies has already been paid about $105,000 for excavations he has made and which are declared of little or no account to any other contractor. Only $297,610 remained to be paid Gillies, who fit thirty-one months had made little practical advance on his work. Of the original appropriation, $335,000 remains, and unless the dock can be completed within this amount Congress must be called on for the balance. In the mean time the navy has nearly completed soveral ships which cannot be docked at an equipped Navy Yard until the New York dock is available.

The bids were as follows: Simpson Dry Dock Company, $495,560; J. B. Westerbrook, $409,-888; Colin Mel.can, $377,000; Thomas & August Walsh, $370,000. Walsh, $370,000. Secretary Herbert, who opened the bids in person, said that he would thoroughly examine the propositions and announce his award subse-

Movements of Our War Ships,

WASHINGTON, April 29 .- Admiral Carpenter reported by cable to-day the arrival of the Petrel t Shanghai on Sunday. The Petrel had been confined in a mud dock at New Chwang since Nov. 8. The Monocacy, which has been similarly imprisoned in the mud for protection against the ice at Tien-Tsin since September, has not yet the loc at Tien-Tsin since Soptember, has not yet been released. As soon as she can leave there she will be sent south to Shanghai for the health of her crew and one of the other ships will take her pince watching Tien-Tsin. The Charleston will probably go to New Chwang from Chifu this week. The flagship Baltimore left Nagasaki for Yokohama yesterday.

Admiral Meade notified Secretary Herbert by telegraph of his arrival in New York yesterday with the cruisers New York and Colombia. Both vessels will be ordered from the North River to the Navy Yard in a day or two to prepare for the voyage to Kiel. Admiral Meade is expected, in Washington to consult with the department about the movements of his ficet during the summer, when the Minneapolis will be the dagship.

COLLISION IN THE AIR.

The Parts of a Divided Train Crash Together on the Poughkeepsle Bridge. POUGHKEEPSIE, April 29 .- A collision occurred on the Poughkeepsie Bridge yesterday afternoon. The grade of the bridge varies at different points, and from the east anchor pier to the terminus on the same side, a distance of about one-third of a mile, there is a steady descent. While an east-bound freight train was passing over this section, running at a good rate of speed, a coupling broke and the cars parted.

The engineer did not discover what had happened until he had gone some distance, but as soon as he learned that the train was in two soon as he learned that the train was in two parts he slowed up. In the mean time the second section had gathered speed from the steep down grade, and was coming along like a whirlwind. It collided with the first section at a point near Gifford avenue, where the bridge is about 100 feet high. The crash of the collision brought everybody in the neighborhood out of his house, apprelensive that the bridge had fallen down. A platform car was thrown clear across the track, and smashed a heavy five-foot steel guard rail for a distance of several feet. The car was balanced half over the edge and half on the bridge. The broken pieces of the guard rail fell into the yard of J. L. Cook, and narrowly escaped striking several persons. The wreck was not cleared away until this morning. A tramp riding on the train narrowly escaped scrious injury. This is the first collision on the bridge since its erection.

A NEW MILK EXCHANGE.

Dealers and Producers Decide to Form a New Combination.

A meeting of 100 milk producers and dealers, who do business in our market, was held vesterday in the Mercantile Exchange building, 6 Harrison street new Milk Exchange with a paid up capital of $25,000. The books of the new exchange will be open until May 10, and until that time one-half the stock, $12,000, will be reserved for subscriptions from milk producers. It is the intention of the new combination, as expressed by Chairman Slaughter, to go directly into the market, offering a price for milk and doing an actual business.

Frank De Alabd, foreman of W. H. Herbert's job printing office at 129 Worth street, was caught yesterday afternoon in the beiting which runs the office machinery and killed. While he was repairing the belting at the main shaft it became tangled around his body. He was jerked from his feet and twisted around the shaft. He was dead before the machinery could be stopped.

De Alabd and John Corrigan, the office boy, were the only persons in the printing office at the time, all the rest of the workmen having gone home. The body was taken down from the shaft by the police and removed to the Elizabeth street station. De Alabd lived in Jersey City.

Brooklyn had an opportunity yesterday to get a free exhibition of the attractions of the Barnum & Bailey show, the street parade taking place a plate of the rain. The procession, headed by a platoon of mounted police, started from the encampment at Halsey street and Saratoga avenue with a promptitude worthy of a big military parade, and for three hours it wended its way over the main portion of the Western and Eastern districts. The sidewalks all along the line of march were crowded with spectators and no mishaps occurred, although the elephant troops had its first experience with the trolley

The Tax Commissioners were busy all day yesterday receiving applications from persons desiring to swear off their personal taxes. About dred took the oath yesterday. The number this year is greater than ever. The Commissioners think this is due partly to the income tax. Some who are amenable to the new tax are unwilling to pay personal taxes which they have paid heretofore without complaint. To-day is the last day for swearing off, and on Wednesday the work of making up the final assessments will begin. It will be completed about June 1.

Mrs. Elterman at Last Gets Her Child. Justice Gaynor, in the Supreme Court in Brooklyn, yesterday rendered a decision giving Mrs. Mary Elterman the custody of her fouryear-old son, John A. Elterman. When Mrs. Elterman's husband was on his deathbed, nearly three years ago, he relinquished all claim to the child, surrendering him to the care of his wealthy sister, Mary A. Snyder, the mother having no means and being estranged from her family. Since the death of the father there has been a legal struggle for the possession of the child.

MONDAY, April 29. To-day's stock market was called upon to stand the strain of considerable foreign liquida-tion and also local selling for both accounts. These sales being concentrated at the opening of business led to fractional declines and a semblance of weakness, which encouraged the re-actionists to further endeavors, but which also brought new support to the speculation in the buying by commission houses, whose customers are always on the lookout for such opportunities to renew and increase their interest in the market. A somewhat irregular tone result-ed until the afternoon, when the per-sistence of the buying frightened the bears into a general covering movement that carried prices to the best level of the day. The only two exceptions of importance were General Electric and Tennessee Coal and Iron, both of which lost ground on the day's trading. The London sales of securities reflected only a natural desire to secure profits, and returned travellers from Euroje bear unanimous testimony to the revival of keen interest in American securities. From a technical point of view the strength of today's market was additional evidence of the broadening public interest. The pronounced strength of the grain markets and the firmness of cotton are also reflections of a sentiment which declines to confine its reasoning merely to statistics.

The authracite group of stocks were notably firm all day. Persistent but unconfirmed re-ports of an agreement between the companies were in circulation, the basis for which appear chiefly in the firmness of those stocks in the market. The meeting of the sales agents to morrow gave spice to these reports, even in the face of repeated denials of their accuracy. The Granger group advanced on the showings made by the St. Paul and Burlington companies for the month of March. While not particularly good exhibits, nobody expected they would be favorable, and, as a matter of fact, the decreases in net earnings fell far below the expectations and confident predictions of the bears. The industrial stocks were all notably strong in the closing dealings, Sugar Refining, Leather, and the Cordage shares showing confident buying. In the early dealings rapid break in American Tobacco added to the ered its loss before the close. The bond market was somewhat less active, but was generally firm. Atchison junior issues were depressed under foreign selling. The tone of the exchange market was heavy, again reflecting offerings of Final sales compare with those of Saturday
